

Mindy Lam The Flower Within

Mindy Lam was born in China on a farm in Hong Kong. Since she was a little girl, Mindy has had a love of nature and all living things. She has always had a love of flowers of all kinds.

Four years ago, Mindy met someone who predicted that she would become famous by making beautiful jewelry and the inspiration for this jewelry would come from her dreams. Mindy didn't think too much of it until a while after. Mindy fell very ill, she went back to China, she was always weak, she could not do much any more. To amuse herself, she started making necklaces and bracelets of wire and beads. She then wore her creations around town and many people noticed her beautiful jewelry.

Everywhere Mindy went, people took notice of her jewelry. When she got back to America, everyone started to notice her jewelry even more, in such a way that a friend convinced her that she should show them to the best stores of Washington DC. Mindy Lam is a poet of jewelry making. The rest is History.

Mindy is truly an artist. Her creations are inspired by the universe and the designs come to her in her dreams. Each petal is created with incredible detail and when combined with others becomes a work of art.

Mindy's worktable is a constantly moving canvas of Swarovski crystal beads, pearls and other precious/semiprecious stones. She spreads around her an amazing combination of the most enchanting shades that one can imagine. The whole room where she works becomes alive with all the semi-precious and precious stones in boxes around her, and it is a real symphony to the eyes!

Mindy takes ordinary wire and beautiful crystal beads then transforms them into magnificent wearable sculpture. The pieces are very flexible and can be transformed into many different objects: lariat to bracelet, choker to necklace. The creativity is passed on to the client as she experiments with the myriad of ways she can transform her jewelry into different pieces.

Each design of Mindy Lam's jewelry is created on the "spur of the moment"; they are truly unique in their genre! She has a sense of style that is her own signature.

Mindy Lam's inspiration, her vision, sense of mixing colors, insights are very much her own. She is an original artist. Mindy Lam lives in her private garden where the colors and the flowers are created with their distinct original and magical touch.
